

What is SMSC?

S - Spiritual

We will encourage children to explore themselves and their beliefs, experiences and surroundings, whilst respecting the faiths, feelings and values of others.

M - Moral

We will encourage children to recognise the law and what is right and wrong, understanding the consequences and exploring the moral and ethnic issues.

S - Social

We will encourage children to use a range of social skills in order to respect and engage with others, irrespective of religion, belief or viewpoint in order to become active and cooperative members of the school and greater community.

C - Cultural

Children will be encouraged to embrace cultural differences and participate in cultural opportunities in order to accept, respect and celebrate the diverseness of Britain.

What does that look like?

Spiritual - children to reflect on their own needs, beliefs, religion and interests whilst being respectful of the views, faiths, feelings and values of others.
Discussions, debates and partner talk, pupil groups.

Moral - children to recognise the difference between right and wrong in their own lives, in the school environment and the wider society and to respect these laws and rules which society abides by.
PSHE/Circle time activities, good to be green, discussions or debates around a topic, Lighthouse.

Social - Social interactions within the classroom, freedom to give their view. Praise and acknowledgements for achievements outside of school, award assemblies.

Cultural - Varied cross curricular lessons or stories that focus on different cultures and traditions. A mixed RE curriculum that looks at different beliefs, cultures, food and dress that allows for discussions to explore differences and similarities, cultural days, family involvement.

In 2014 Michael Gove announced that schools should promote British Values within their curriculum in order for “young people to accept, respect and tolerate”.

The Government defines British Values as:

- The values of democracy
- The rule of law
- Individual Liberty
- Mutual respect and tolerance for those of different faiths and beliefs.

As a school we understand the importance of these values but do not believe that these values will be assumed because we demand it.

Instead we aim to encourage children to discuss their view points, and then understand and challenge them.

We aim to demonstrate British Values through the following means:

- By teachers explaining the meaning of the value
- By pupils reflecting on the value and what it means to them and their own behaviour
- By pupils using the value to guide their own actions
- By staff modelling the value through their own behaviour
- Through the work of the school council
- By involving all staff, governors and parents in the values programme, through newsletters which explain how school and home can work together to promote positive values.
- By ensuring that values are taught implicitly through every aspect of the curriculum through the study of SMSC, which is already at the heart of our curriculum
